Paris Green a Drug.

There are all the way from 40 to 50 tons of paris green lying uncalced for in the warehouses of the wholesale drug houses of the city. The reason for this is that there are no potato bugs this summer.

This is only comparatively true. There are a few potato bugs, but the number has been small. As a result of the disappearance of the bugs the farmers of Minnesota have not only been saved the expense of $25,000 for the first cost of the paris green, but the labor of putting it on. And the crop will be far better and larger. Potatoes will be cheap this fall—cheaper, perhaps, than at any time in the history of the business in the northwest. It is more than probable that a big business in shipping potatoes will grow up in Minneapolis and the northwest this season—Minneapolis Tribune.

The Incident of the Man.

Genius is really of the power of making continuous efforts. The line between failure and success is so fine that we scarcely know when we pass it—so fine that we are often on the line and do not know it. How many a man has thrown up his hands at a time when a little more effort, a little more patience, would have achieved success! As the tide goes clear out, so it comes clear in. In business, sometimes, prospects may seem darkest when really they are on the turn. A little more persistence, a little more effort, and what seemed hopeless failure may turn to glorious success. There is no failure except in no longer trying. There is no defeat except from within, no really insurmountable barrier save our own inherent weakness of purpose.—Electrical Review.

No Latchkeys at Buckingham.

Queen Victoria evidently disapproves of young ladies carrying latchkeys. The Princesses Victoria and Maud of Wales recently paid a visit to their royal grandmother at Buckingham palace. These young ladies are most democratic in their tastes, and they would have preferred to enter and leave the palace by a side door and thus dispense with the formalities of the royal entrance. Accordingly they asked for latchkeys. This request, after receiving the attention of several members of the household, was finally laid before the queen, who spent little time in considering the question and sent word to the princesses that she considered latchkeys out of place in Buckingham palace.—New York Herald.

Should Patronize Home Beauties.

Americans spend at least $75,000,000 a year in visiting Europe for pleasure and hardly $1,000,000 at our own natural wonders of Niagara, the Yosemite valley and the Yellowstone park. Most of the tourists at these home resorts are foreigners. Among the 5,000 visitors to the Yellowstone park during the last ten years only 60 were Americans. It seems to be the opinion of the Americans that the proper study of mankind is man, and not scenery.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Dizzy Heights.

Persons who cannot restrain a shudder when they look from a height to the earth below will appreciate the experience of Clough, the English poet. He was once conducted to the edge of a precipice in Wales by a friend, and the effect on his nerves was so violent that he fell back on the grass ghastly pale and ill like a man at the point of death.

Set yourself earnestly to see what you were made to do, and then set yourself earnestly to do it, and the loftier your purpose is the more sure you will be to make the world richer with every enrichment of yourself.

Esquimo Superstition Is Ruinous.

For many years furriers have noticed that all the skins of polar bears which they have received have been mutilated by the loss of the nose. A Parisian furrier has discovered that this is a result of a very ancient and prevalent superstition among the Eskimos. A polar bear is killed in the snow must be cut off and thrown away, or the head will follow the hunter.

The raspberry was introduced into America from Virginia in 1806. The plant was introduced from the eastern shores of the Black sea at a very early date.

This Explains It at Last.

A greater number of men than of women become stout late in life. No satisfactory explanation is offered of this fact unless it be that the women are kept thus worrying about the men.—Someville Journal.

A blow on the head seems to cause a flash of light in the eyes because light is the only impression the optical nerve is capable of receiving.

Fair and beautiful

—the woman who keeps at a distance the complexion beautifiers, paints and powders, which soon ruin the face.

A healthy glow to the skin, a face without wrinkles and sparkling eyes, will be yours if you keep the system and the special internal organs in good condition.

The young girl, or woman, often grows pale, thin, and everything wears her, she complains of herself as aching and sore and as sleeping poorly. Often she is troubled with backache, or a tender spine, with a bearing-down weight in the abdomen, or at periods she may be irregular, or suffer extreme pain from functional derangements.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only medicine that will cure such difficulties permanently in nearly eight per cent of all cases. Having proven so successful, Dr. Pierce put his "Favorite Prescription" on the market, and it is today sold more largely than any other medicine for the use of women.

For all functional derangements, displacements, ulceration, inflammation, and the catarrhal drain from the lining membranes of the special internal organs of women, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription reaches the origin of the trouble, and corrects it.

Mrs. MARY CRIM, of Frankfort, Franklin Co., N.Y., writes: "A few years ago I took cold, which resulted in female trouble, and affected my whole system. About a year ago I took chills, had one or two months, they were very weak. Had pains in my sides, more frequently in the left side, gradually grew worse until, finally, I had to take to bed. I had a bad cough and couldn't rest. Commenced taking your medicine, took it about four months. My system is now better, and I feel better and stronger than I have for years."

The JOURNAL enters upon its Forty-sixth Volume today. It is not owned, subsidized nor influenced by corporations. It believes in bimetalism and upholds what it believes regardless of its effect upon party or individual. It does not attempt to deceive its readers by pretending to be for free coinage while supporting a party that is for the gold standard. It has faith in the future of Nevada and is firm in the conviction that with silver monetized it will be among the prosperous States in the Union, and to secure this end its columns will be devoted. That its course is approved by the people there is substantial evidence in its large circulation, for which it is thankful to its patrons, and which it will continue to endeavor to merit. It hopes before the close of 1896 to be able to bear the glad tidings to its readers of a victory by the people over the cohorts of Wall Street, and the consequent dawn of a new era of prosperity.

UTAH TERRITORY.
Governor West of Utah has submitted his annual report to the Secretary of the Interior. It is devoted almost exclusively to statistics showing the resources and conditions of the Territory. The population, according to the census of 1895, is 247,324, and the property valuation $87,932,151, which is a very good showing for the prospective State.

Utah was settled in 1847 by Mormons under the lead of Brigham Young. In 1849 a provisional government was organized for the "State of Deseret," which was superseded by the Territory of Utah, which was organized by Act of Congress in 1850. In 1850 under an act of the Territorial Legislature a Constitution was framed for the State of Deseret. Congress refused to admit it owing to the fact that polygamy was recognized by the people and sanctioned by the laws of the Territory. A few years ago the Church declared against plural marriages and the last session of Congress believing that the act was in good faith, passed an act to enable Utah to become a State. Under the provisions of this act a Constitution has been framed and will be submitted to the qualified electors in November, and if ratified Utah will probably be a Sovereign State before the close of the year.

ENFORCING THE MONROE DOCTRINE

It is reported, but the report is not confirmed, that the Government contemplates enforcing the Monroe doctrine in the Anglo-Venezuelan boundary controversy. The last Congress, by resolution, directed the executive to use its best efforts to bring the dispute to arbitration. Secretary Olney has been giving the subject attention and is formulating his views to be communicated to Ambassador Bayard.

The Monroe doctrine was promulgated by President Monroe in his message to Congress in 1823. He stated that full power and instructions had been transmitted to the Minister of the United States at St. Petersburg to arrange, by amicable negotiations, the respective rights and interests of the two nations on the northwest coast of this continent.

President Monroe said that in the wars of European powers in matters relating to themselves we have never taken any part, nor does it comport with our policy to do so. It is only when our rights are invaded or seriously menaced that we resent injuries or make preparation for our defense. With the movements in this hemisphere we are, of necessity, more immediately connected. The political system of the allied powers is essentially different from that of America. This difference proceeds from that which exists in their respective governments. He therefore laid down the principle which has since been known as the Monroe doctrine, as follows:

"We owe it, therefore, to candor and to the amicable relations existing between the United States and those powers, to declare any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety. With the existing colonies and dependencies of any European power, we have not interfered and shall not interfere. But with the governments who have declared their independence and maintained it, and whose independence we have, on great consideration and on just principles, acknowledged, we could not view any interposition for the purpose of oppressing them, or controlling in any other manner their destiny, by any European power, in any other light than as the manifestation of an unfriendly disposition towards the United States."

That was democratic doctrine in 1823 and it was recognized as such until Cleveland, the great Anglophile, permitted European powers to dictate not only the financial policy, but the foreign policy of the United States. If the Monroe doctrine is enforced Great Britain nor no other European power, will be permitted to oppress any independent nation or acquire more territory on the American continent.

The House of Bishops of the Episcopal Triennial Convention has adopted a resolution commending the Governor and Legislature of Texas for their action in preventing the Corbett-Fitzsimmons prize fight from taking place within the borders of the Lone Star State.

MASSACHUSETTS REPUBLICANS.

They Fully Endorse Cleveland's Policy—The Party Silver Men are Asked to Affiliate With Them

Boston, October 5.—The Massachusetts State Convention to-day chose Curtis Guild for permanent Chairman. The Committee on credentials reported 1,393 delegates present out of a possible 2,013. The report of the Committee on Resolutions was adopted unanimously. The platform declares for protection to all industries, says the Government should not permit the free coinage of silver at any ratio not established by international agreement, advocates legislation to protect the metallic reserve from the concerted attacks of speculators, and demands the maintenance of the Monroe Doctrine. The platform says: "Church and State should be separate and independent in fact as well as in theory." A plea is made for additional laws against prize fighting and for road improvements.

The clause referring to sectarianism occasioned an outburst of applause which lasted over a minute. Ex-Governor Long placed Governor Greenhalge in nomination for a third term. There were no other nominations, and the ballot was ordered closed. Just before the balloting the leaders of the opposition to Greenhalge distributed ballots marked "For Governor, Elijah A. Morse of Canton." The ballot resulted Greenhalge, 1,363; Morse, 391; scattering, 8. Elijah Morse moved that Greenhalge's nomination be made unanimous, and it was carried. Hon. Roger Wilcott was nominated for Lieutenant Governor, William D. Olm for Secretary of State, Edward B. Shaw for Treasurer and Receiver General, General John M. Kimball for Auditor and Hosea M. Knowlton for Attorney General.

Legal Tender.

EDITOR JOURNAL: Very few people realize the immense pressure brought to bear on Congress to prevent any thing but gold being made a full legal tender.

Early in the Winter of 1862 when it became known to the gold ring in New York, Boston and Philadelphia that Congress was going to issue a large amount of legal tenders to carry on the war and to furnish the people with a medium of exchange, the agents of the goldbugs looked to Washington to get an exception clause inserted on the back of these legal tenders so as to make a market for their gold and enable them to force it to a high premium, to their immense profit. They were unsuccessful.

The gold ring also succeeded in having an exception clause inserted in the Bland-Alison Act of February 28, 1878. The silver dollars were made a legal tender at their nominal value for all debts and dues, public and private, except where otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract. This exception clause legalizes the gold clause in contracts as far as silver dollars are concerned.

The Act of 1890, under which some $150,000,000 of Treasury notes were issued, had a similar exception clause inserted which spoils them for paying a debt with the gold clause in the contract.

Mr. Editor, a very large per cent of the people of this country are very much opposed to any exception clause being put on any of Uncle Sam's money. Of what avail will it be to use anything but gold for money if we allow the money sharks to write and enforce the gold clause in contracts?

Will some opponent of Populism try and show cause why the discrimination against any kind of Uncle Sam's money should not be prohibited? A great many will proclaim on the street that the gold clause in a contract is too sacred to be trifled with, but when pressed for an explanation they suddenly remember an important engagement and do not have time to discuss it any further. It may be that some opponent of government paternalism and champion of the rights of the individual may find time to write a short essay on the advantages of the gold clause in contracts and the exception clause on the treasury notes and the silver currency. Will some champion of the gold clause in contracts please rise and explain? FARMER
Reno, October 4, 1895.

This Week's Special.

The Palace Dry Goods and Carpet House announces for one week the special sale of ladies' all wool scarlet vests and pants at 90 cents each. The only reason why they are offered at a reduced price is because there are too many of them in stock. They are of an excellent quality, and the offer very timely, as cold weather is right upon us. The Palace has also the finest stock of ladies' and misses' capes and jackets, dress goods, etc., all of which will compare favorably in styles and prices with any of the stocks kept in stores of larger cities.

Notice.

Mrs. Eliza Bacon who formerly lived just below Keno on the old Ab. Smith ranch writes to friends here that bad luck seems to follow them at almost every move. The last experience the family had was the loss of their home at Fruit Vale a few days ago, which was totally destroyed by fire. Only a few household goods were saved, and Mrs. Bacon and her daughter lost everything in the way of clothing. The loss is a severe one to the family at this time.

SILVER SENTIMENT.

Its Rapid Spread in the East and South—The All Absorbing Topic of Statesmen and the People.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 4, 1895.

In view of the repeated efforts of the gold press to belittle the importance of the silver question and spread the belief that it is dying out, the question is frequently asked by intelligent men, "Is the silver sentiment growing?"

During the past three months I have had occasion to visit different sections of the East and have had interviews with men from all sections of the South and Central West. It is a question of interest and importance to the people of the West, to know the nature of the support they are receiving from the South and East. The people of Nevada may rest assured that the silver question is the sole topic of conversation and discussion in the East and that all other public questions have been made subordinate to it. It is true that Quay, Platt & Co., the managerial combine of the Republican party; that one Benjamin Harrison, who is supposed to have sundry unexpressed views on silver and gold, and one Mayor McKinley, a Napoleon who has had his Waterloo, are industriously trying to keep tariff, which Hancock truly demonstrated a local issue, before the American voters. But the silver breeze is fast gathering the strength of a political cyclone, which will wreck any party not flying the silver standard.

Its growth has been marvelous within the past eighteen months and if the silver men representing the great industrial classes of the nation could afford to spend one dollar in the dissemination of truth for every thousand dollars spent by the gold trust in the suppression of truth, the latter would soon be without a foothold.

The silver question has been more or less an issue ever since 1873. As an issue it has been within the control of the old parties. As long as it could be kept there, the men who helped demoralize it in 1873, have rested easily. It is beyond successful refutation that John Sherman and his followers have controlled the policies of the Republican party and that Grover Cleveland has been the dictator in the Democratic party, while both have been the puppets of Wall Street.

The silver sentiment for twenty years was a folio hope led by a hopeless minority. It is equally true that the so-called friendliness of the old parties has been nothing more or less than concessions by adroit and skillful politicians, who realized that to lose control of the sentiment or to allow independence of action meant for them disastrous defeat. As long as they could prevent action their sole purpose was accomplished. In the mean time they have been beating tom-toms of tariff and telling of the disastrous results to follow. Most of their predictions have been proven false by the Wilson tariff bill, under which wages have risen, manufactures have opened, thousands of new operators been employed, wool and other products keep their prices. Of all the political snares and delusions tariff has been the worst.

Agitation within the line of the old parties confined to a hopeless minority has accomplished nothing. Their one purpose has been accomplished. As an issue it was suppressed. And in this line silver could be discussed for fifty years and nothing accomplished.

As far as the people of Nevada are concerned a discussion of the economic and theoretical conditions of finance is out of place. What they want to know of is the progress and growth of this question and what they should most realize and be proud of is the tremendous agency they have been in the present growth and agitation of silver.

As the expense of causing the golden triplets of Nevada spasms, I assert that the real growth and agitation of the silver question as an independent issue dates from the campaign of 1892, when Nevada assumed her independent stand and the Populist party made silver a fair and square issue. This statement defies successful contradiction.

Prior to 1892 nothing, so to speak, was accomplished for silver. It was never heard of in the East. It cuts no figure in the South. The people of the Mississippi Valley had but a meagre knowledge of it, there was no growth, no agitation, no action. In 1892 the old parties found themselves no longer able to control it. At that election for the first time in many years, a third man received votes in the electoral college, Nevada and other States tired of the deception of the past raised a silver standard. As a result the eyes of the nation looked westward, saw the signs of the times. They heard a new gospel, they saw fallacies exposed, they believed the hypocrisy and insincerity of the old parties. The South took up the cry. The East began to study the question. The gold trust began to organize and fight openly, now that they could no longer stifle it as false friends. To-day both the old parties are threatened with disruption. The West has cut loose, the south stands ready, the entire press of America are discussing the silver question pro and con. Leagues have been organized, unions formed, bureaus established. Able orators the land over are preaching the gospel of independence. Where five years ago silver reigned, the tumult of agitation is now heard. Every man you meet has an opinion on it. Illinois has declared for silver, so has Missouri and Texas. Where a single voice was not heard in Ohio four years ago is now found a powerful minority for it. The gold press tell you it is dying out. The Associated Press is subsidized and lies.

THE RAILROAD VALUATION.

Will the Assessor's Figures or the Railroad's Stand?

The railroad question is the principal topic of conversation about town. The farmers who were in yesterday took a lively interest in the matter and discussed it freely. Some emphatically asserted that Commissioner Alt would stand by the Assessor's figures, while others were as positive that Commissioner Hymers would stand up to the rack. The general opinion expressed was that the valuation was not excessive and that the Commissioners should not reduce it. A prominent attorney, who is very close to the Board, gave it as his opinion that the assessment would stand, unless Commissioner Alt attended and voted for a reduction, in which event he thought the Assessor's figures would be reduced. This implies that there is a difference of opinion on the railroad question between the two members who constitute a majority of the Board.

The valuation placed upon the Central Pacific and the Virginia & Truckee roads by the Assessor is not as high as that made by the State Board of Assessors. It is, however, higher than that placed upon them by Assessor Fletcher, who for some reason did not value the roads as high as the State Board.

It seems to be the general opinion that if the responsibility for a reduction could be divided between the Silver men and the Republicans, the reduction would be made, but if Commissioner Alt is unable to attend on account of his injuries, the valuation will not be reduced.

It will make a difference of several thousand dollars to the State and county if the assessment is reduced and the people, therefore, take a lively interest in the question.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL.

It is to be Incorporated With the Public School System.

In compliance with the suggestion of President Stubbs the University Training School is to be partly incorporated with the public school. The Normal School will furnish one or two of the teachers and the School Board as many more as may be necessary.

The Training School is for the purpose of giving the Normal School students a practical knowledge of teaching. There are now 96 pupils in the Training School. These are divided into eight grades of twelve pupils each corresponding with the grades in the public schools, so that Normal School graduates are supposed to be qualified to teach any of the grades. As the training school relieves the public school of a large number of pupils the School Board can afford to supply a teacher or two and the School Board can furnish the requisite number of pupils to maintain each grade. Children are a necessity at the Normal School and the School Board can supply the necessity. This will bring the Training School and the public school into closer relationship, and to some extent link the two schools together.

CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant. 45 YEARS THE STANDARD.

The reception given to the faculty and students of the University at the Congregational Church was a splendid success. The University teachers and pupils turned out en masse, and the young people of the various churches in town helped to swell the crowd until there were over four hundred persons present. A fine literary and musical programme was rendered, and a pleasant social evening was spent. Refreshments were served, and the whole affair was a grand success in the direction for which it was intended, viz: to give the students an opportunity to become better acquainted with the young people of the town, so that more of such pleasant evenings may be spent during the winter.

THE RAILROAD VALUATION.

Will the Assessor's Figures or the Railroad's Stand?

The railroad question is the principal topic of conversation about town. The farmers who were in yesterday took a lively interest in the matter and discussed it freely. Some emphatically asserted that Commissioner Alt would stand by the Assessor's figures, while others were as positive that Commissioner Hymers would stand up to the rack. The general opinion expressed was that the valuation was not excessive and that the Commissioners should not reduce it. A prominent attorney, who is very close to the Board, gave it as his opinion that the assessment would stand, unless Commissioner Alt attended and voted for a reduction, in which event he thought the Assessor's figures would be reduced. This implies that there is a difference of opinion on the railroad question between the two members who constitute a majority of the Board.

The valuation placed upon the Central Pacific and the Virginia & Truckee roads by the Assessor is not as high as that made by the State Board of Assessors. It is, however, higher than that placed upon them by Assessor Fletcher, who for some reason did not value the roads as high as the State Board.

It seems to be the general opinion that if the responsibility for a reduction could be divided between the Silver men and the Republicans, the reduction would be made, but if Commissioner Alt is unable to attend on account of his injuries, the valuation will not be reduced.

It will make a difference of several thousand dollars to the State and county if the assessment is reduced and the people, therefore, take a lively interest in the question.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL.

It is to be Incorporated With the Public School System.

In compliance with the suggestion of President Stubbs the University Training School is to be partly incorporated with the public school. The Normal School will furnish one or two of the teachers and the School Board as many more as may be necessary.

The Training School is for the purpose of giving the Normal School students a practical knowledge of teaching. There are now 96 pupils in the Training School. These are divided into eight grades of twelve pupils each corresponding with the grades in the public schools, so that Normal School graduates are supposed to be qualified to teach any of the grades. As the training school relieves the public school of a large number of pupils the School Board can afford to supply a teacher or two and the School Board can furnish the requisite number of pupils to maintain each grade. Children are a necessity at the Normal School and the School Board can supply the necessity. This will bring the Training School and the public school into closer relationship, and to some extent link the two schools together.

With the exhilarating sense of renewed health and strength and internal cleanliness, which follows the use of Syrup of Figs, is unknown to the few who have not progressed beyond the old time medicines and the cheap substitutes sometimes offered but never accepted by the well informed.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cured—No Crutches Now.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has done wonders for me, when doctors and many other remedies had failed to relieve me from the pains of rheumatism. I suffered over 40 years, the last 8 of which, I could not move without crutches or go to bed without assistance, being helpless in my lower limbs. I gladly praise Hood's Sarsaparilla, which has wrought a great change in a year. I have taken over two dozen. Eight months ago I laid aside my crutches and

OFFICIAL WHIPPING.
How Boy Criminals Are Punished by Whipping in England.
Boys who are found guilty of minor offenses in England are sentenced by the justices to a sound whipping at the hands of the policeman. There is a description of the cat taken from an English paper.
The birch is a very different instrument of torture from the cat. The former is made up of a number of long birch twigs, while the latter is really a whip with nine lashed small cord lashes. When the cat is administered, the prisoner must be present, but when the birch is put on it is only necessary for the inspector or superintendent of police to witness it, although the parents or near relatives of a boy sentenced to be flogged may be present at the infliction. When a dose of the cat is dealt out, the boy is connected with the prisoner and allowed to be there.
Like the cat the birch may be made a very severe punishment or a comparatively trivial affair, not merely according to the number of strokes, but from the instructions given the constable who is told off to do the flogging. I have seen a boy after six strokes resemble nothing so much as a piece of raw beef and bleed fearfully, while I have also seen a boy after six strokes merely a trifle red.
Some policemen dread the duty of flogging, and after the first two strokes get a sharp order to "hit the boy and not play with him." Other constables delight in the work and boast of their ability to draw blood at the first stroke.
Various modes of administering the punishment obtain in different parts of the country. In some places boys are placed face downward on a form. One constable holds his arms and head firmly, while another does him the same service with his legs, and the third administers the punishment.
In other prisons the culprit is placed on a constable's back, and as he sits there with his arms around the officer's neck, awaiting "the event," his attitude strikes a spectator more as one of affection than of discomfort. Another way is to compel a boy to lean over a chair as if he were praying, then run a strap right around his legs and the legs of the chair, a constable holding his head and arms from the other side.—Brooklyn Eagle.

THROUGH OTHER EYES.
Life at Harvard College From the English Point of View.
The student life of America is eminently an American institution. It has grown up in an odd compound of native manners and foreign influences, which form an essentially new product. It is a good deal more complex in its organization than anything known on the isle or the main. There is more details in it, and consequently less breadth of effect.
The university organizations are innumerable. Men are banded together in college clubs for every conceivable purpose of study or amusement. Their bond of union may be their attempt to talk Greek with the accent of modern Attica, or it may be only a passion for dominoes, but it has all the notes of institution in its machinery of committee, president and secretaries. Great variety of life comes from the differences in fortune among the students, but of late years there has been a landable attempt on the part of the university and college authorities to introduce a more uniform simplicity. Plain living is the cry, and with this secured it is believed the thinking will take care of itself.
At Harvard some time ago Professor Palmer tried to discover how far the living had departed from the philosophic standard by asking some hundreds of students for a return of their annual expenditure. The answers showed that Harvard at least had nothing to be ashamed of. Many of the students, less than a fourth, spent less than $1200 a year; some less than $100. The average probably did not amount to the $2000 a year which the professor regards as an entirely adequate allowance for both case and refinement. Yale is less costly than Harvard, so these institutions at least are not open to the reproach that they have introduced the millionaire into American university life.—London News.

The Duke of York's Baby.
There is a report that the Duke of York's baby is deaf and dumb, but everybody will hope that it is not true, and that the royal suckling will talk and hear as well as anybody when the time comes. If not, the disability will not be without its alleviations. Only a few of his line have said anything good or heard anything good of themselves in six generations. One of his successors earned this epitaph, which he may deserve whether he talks or not:
Here lies Prince Fred,
Who was alive and is dead.
Had it been his father
I had much rather.
Had it been his brother
Sooner than the other.
Had it been his sister
There's no one would have missed her.
Had it been his whole generation
All the better for the nation.
But as it's only Fred,
Who was alive and is dead,
There is nothing to be said.
—New York Tribune.

A Trick of the Huntsman.
During a visit to Montana a prominent Chicago gentleman went with a party just starting for a grand "limit" for big game in the Yellowstone region. He remarked to the leader, "You cannot hunt in Yellowstone park." "Oh, no," said the leader. "We go outside the limits of the park, and if the game won't come to use we know how to manage to make it come." Such excursions are not uncommon, and it will not be strange if hungry Indians should occasionally imitate their white brethren.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

The Following shows how the new woman is getting on. Not only have men lost their attractions for her, but mice, it would seem, have lost their terrors:
"Required, furnished apartments for nine ladies. Accommodation for bicycles. Gentlemen and cats objected to. Write B. O."
So far as the men are concerned, however, this strikes me as a little previous. Would it not have been better to wait and see whether any living man would dare to trust himself under the same roof with nine bicycling females? I feel confident that those vests may dissipate their fears.—London Truth.

A Frog With Four Wings.
The curiosity of tropical Africa is the wonderful flying frog, first described by Bishop of the equatorial African expedition, which returned to Europe in the fall of 1894. This oddity of the reptile family is about the size of a common bullfrog, and resembles other members of the order of batrachians in everything but its feet, each of which is webbed and enormously enlarged, so much so as to form splendid substitutes for true wings. The creature has five toes on each of the other two, which make four separate membranes on each of its hind feet and three on each fore foot, or 14 in all. In his description of it Bishop says, "Each leg terminates in a sort of fan, and with these the little reptile paddles the air like a loonist, or like a partially fledged bird testing its pinions for the first time."
Although somewhat awkward in its flight, the winged frog can dart through the air at a speed of about ten yards per second and can keep itself going forward at that rate for from 10 to 15 seconds. The average distance covered by these sports of grasshopperlike flight is from 75 to 125 yards, but Bishop mentions instances where the flying frog cleared sandy stretches 200 yards in width.—St. Louis Republic.

He Denied the Call.
An English army officer tells an amusing story of an incident that occurred at Maidstone many years ago, in the time of the old cavalry depot. On a certain very foggy night there was a complete silence, broken only by the voices of the sentries who, at regular intervals, passed the usual word down the line. The officer went up just as the usual watch was passing, and this was what he heard: First sentry, "No. 1, and all's well!" Then there was silence for a moment, and a voice called into the darkness, "No. 3, and all's well, and No. 2's asleep!" Before No. 4 could take up the thread of the proceedings a voice in which more than a suspicion of slumber remained cried hurriedly, "No. 3, and all's well, and No. 8's a liar!"

Treacle.
The word treacle has undergone an odd modification. At first it was applied to such decoctions of roots or other substances as were deemed beneficial in medical practice. Then, as these were frequently sweetened, it came to mean any sweet concoction or confection, and lastly, as molasses was the sweetest of all, this name was exclusively applied to sirup.
